The Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania ("Penn") and Jue Wu, Allan Azarion, Allison Pearce, Kathryn Davis, Yuanjie Zheng, Hongzhi Wang, Brian Litt, James Gee, the developer ("Developer") of Penn Software 3DVis-Coregistration-Tools ("Software") give recipient ("Recipient") and Recipient's Institution ("Institution") permission to use, copy, and modify the software in source and binary forms, with or without modification for non-profit research purposes only provided that the following conditions are met:

1)   All copies of Software in binary form and/or source code, related documentation and/or other materials provided with the Software must reproduce and retain the above copyright notice, this list of conditions and the following disclaimer.

2)   Recipient shall have the right to create modifications of the Software ("Modifications") for their internal research and academic purposes only.

3)   All copies of Modifications in binary form and/or source code and related documentation must reproduce and retain the above copyright notice, this list of conditions and the following disclaimer.

4)   Recipient and Institution shall not distribute Software or Modifications to any third parties without the prior written approval of Penn.

5)   Recipient will provide the Developer with feedback on the use of the Software and Modifications, if any, in their research. The Developers and Penn are permitted to use any information Recipient provides in making changes to the Software. All feedback, bug reports and technical questions shall be sent to:

The Translational Neural Engineering Lab
Bioengineering, Hayden 301
3320 Smith Walk
University of Pennsylvania
Philadelphia, PA 19104

6)   Recipient acknowledges that the Developers, Penn and its licensees may develop modifications to Software that may be substantially similar to Recipient's modifications of Software, and that the Developers, Penn and its licensees shall not be constrained in any way by Recipient in Penn's or its licensees' use or management of such modifications. Recipient acknowledges the right of the Developers and Penn to prepare and publish modifications to Software that may be substantially similar or functionally equivalent to your modifications and improvements, and if Recipient or Institution obtains patent protection for any modification or improvement to Software, Recipient and Institution agree not to allege or enjoin infringement of their patent by the Developers, Penn or any of Penn's licensees obtaining modifications or improvements to Software from the Penn or the Developers.

7)   Recipient and Developer will acknowledge in their respective publications the contributions made to each other's research involving or based on the Software. The current citations for Software are:

8)   Any party desiring a license to use the Software and/or Modifications for commercial purposes shall contact The Center for Technology Transfer at Penn at 215-898-9591.
